Owner Experience Review

Owners consistently position the 22S1SB from BENNINGTON as a social, family oriented 22' pontoon best suited to relaxed lake days. The swingback lounge layout and open seating get praise for keeping guests together and comfortable, with helm ergonomics and small-day conveniences like cupholders and phone spots described as adequate for casual cruising. On the water, handling is predictable and easy for newer captains, and the ride is frequently called stable in typical lake conditions rather than sporty.

Performance with a single outboard is generally viewed as sufficient for light tow sports and tow toys, with owner remarks noting that a 150 hp setup “gets around fine” on this size. Upholstery quality is generally liked, though owners note that mid tier models use different vinyl and hardware than the brand’s top tiers. Routine upkeep mirrors standard pontoon/outboard care; owners cite Yamaha outboards as dependable, but mention small practical items to watch—occasional seat tears, hardware variability, and the importance of inspecting fuel fill/venting due to reports of slow or burping fills on similar 22' models.

Pros and Cons

• Stable, predictable ride that suits family cruising on lakes.
• Social swingback layout maximizes usable seating and lounge space.
• Straightforward single outboard maintenance with broadly positive reliability feedback.
• Not a sporty handler; oriented to comfort over aggressive performance.
• Upholstery and hardware reflect mid tier choices versus top tier lines.
• Some owners report slow or burping fuel fills and occasional seat/hardware wear.
