Owner Experience Review

Owners gravitate toward the 38 Express Cruiser from FOUNTAIN for a mix of family-friendly cruising, weekend accommodations, and spirited high-speed outings. Reports across forums and listings describe the boat as spacious for its class, quick to respond, and capable of "driv[ing] like a sport boat," with a hull design that delivers performance uncommon in many 38' cruisers. Some brokers note top speeds exceeding 70 mph when fitted with larger Mercury installations, while real-world cruising speeds depend on the specific engine package installed.

Inside, the layout supports up to four people with a functional galley and a single head, making it practical for short-term cruising and multipurpose use—from day runs to light fishing. Prospective owners should consider maintenance realities raised in owner reports and listings: occurrences of transom and stringer rot requiring extensive repairs, powder-coated windshield and framework that often need refinishing with age, and examples of substantial annual service bills; maintenance demands and costs will vary significantly with the chosen engine configuration.

Pros and Cons

- High-end performance and sport-boat-like responsiveness for a 38' cruiser.
- Generous cockpit and cabin ergonomics with a galley and head, accommodating up to four for weekend stays.
- Adaptable platform for dayboating, family cruising, and occasional light fishing.
- Reported instances of transom and stringer rot on some vessels that have required major repairs.
- Powder-coated windshield and framework commonly need refinishing as they age.
- Maintenance and operating expenses can be substantial and differ appreciably depending on the Mercury engine package selected.
