Full description

ALPHERATZ is a 101-foot (30.8m) motor yacht launched in 2000 by Admiral Yachts from the Cantieri Navali Lavagna facility. Built by one of Italy's respected custom and semi-custom shipyards, she reflects Admiral's tradition of solid engineering, refined Italian lines and trustworthy seakeeping. The yacht's generous interior volumes, comfortable staterooms and adaptable exterior living spaces are a direct expression of that heritage.

With an overall length of 101 feet (30.8m) and a beam of 23 feet (7m), ALPHERATZ carries the presence and proportions expected of an Italian superyacht. Her naval architecture strikes a considered balance between seagoing performance and onboard comfort, making her well suited to extended cruising, entertaining and family cruising alike.

Designed to welcome up to ten guests in five exquisitely arranged cabins, the layout provides both privacy and conviviality, with cabins configured to maximize daylight and onboard ease. Thoughtful crew quarters ensure professional service and efficient operation on longer passages, while the interior planning supports relaxed living and seamless hospitality.

The main salon establishes an elegant atmosphere with abundant seating and a dedicated dining area, offering an inviting space for relaxation or social occasions. Large windows flood the interior with natural light and frame wide views of the surrounding seascape, while Admiral's characteristic Italian styling gives the décor a timeless, sophisticated appeal.

Outdoor life aboard ALPHERATZ is a particular strength, with wide deck areas that create varied settings for dining, sunbathing and entertaining whether under way, at anchor or enjoying evening cocktails. A practical highlight is the dedicated garage, sized to house a jet ski and affording convenient, direct access to the water, which enhances her appeal as a platform for watersports and coastal exploration.

Constructed during the period when Admiral was establishing itself among Italy's leading luxury yacht builders, ALPHERATZ benefits from the robust construction standards and engineering expertise for which the shipyard is known. Her enduring design, spacious accommodations and useful features present a compelling offering in the current brokerage market.

For those seeking a proven Italian-built motor yacht from a reputable yard, ALPHERATZ combines Admiral pedigree, five-cabin accommodation, expansive outdoor living and a garage capable of jet ski storage, making her an attractive choice for owners wishing to enjoy the superyacht lifestyle with family and friends.
