OVERVIEW

---

The Amer F 106 (2025, new build) advances the celebrated Amer F 100 lineage, fusing sculptural design, cutting-edge technology, and effortless luxury into a 31 metre luxury motor yacht. Penned by Antonio Luxardo, her profile is distinguished by sweeping glass surfaces that elevate the sense of volume at the salon entry and bathe the interiors in light, intensifying the connection to sea and sky. Accommodation totals five generous cabins, highlighted by a main-deck owner's suite, while a capacious salon and an expansive foredeck with sunpads invite relaxed entertaining. A welcoming aft lounge flows to the water and links seamlessly with the cockpit, and twin stairs rise to a remarkable 10 metre flybridge-style sundeck. Up top, further sunning areas, a convivial dinette, and an auxiliary helm create a private retreat with panoramic views.

Underway, this contemporary superyacht delivers a composed yet athletic ride, its agility and precision owed to Volvo Penta IPS pod propulsion. The system's intuitive handling enhances close quarters maneuvering and long-range cruising alike, while its efficiency aligns luxury with responsibility through lower fuel burn and reduced emissions.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Elegant and distinctive

---

This yacht represents the evolution of the Amer F 100, carrying forward the defining lines of its predecessor while elevating them into an even more elegant and distinctive expression. Drawing on proven experience, its efficiency has been further refined. A full-beam architecture expands the interior spaces, enabling large panoramic windows and generous dimensions dedicated to the fly-bridge. The vessel embraces advanced material hybridization, integrating aluminum onto a traditional composite base and introducing a new composite that is recyclable at the end of its life, with a reduction in the use of fiberglass from 30% to 50%. Propulsion is delivered by multiple Volvo Penta engines with IPS.
