OVERVIEW

La Rubia, an Azimut 105 launched in 2011 and refreshed by a comprehensive €600,000 refit in 2021, is currently lying in Kas, Turkey and welcomes offers. At 31.4 m with a flybridge, she marries lavish comfort with refined aesthetics: a planing superyacht conceived by Azimut to full U.S. specification and fitted with a European power converter, her profile carries the timeless, streamlined signature of Stefano Righini.

The 2021 renewal brought a quietly elegant interior transformation, with new loose furnishings, fresh carpeting and upgraded soft goods in the master suite and main salon, creating an inviting, contemporary ambience befitting a premium motor yacht. Below decks the engineering spaces received equal attention — engines, generators, stabilisers and hydraulic systems were comprehensively overhauled to ensure dependable, turn key operation.

Every teak surface was either replaced or meticulously sanded and re-caulked, a new Marinecold A/C system was installed, and detailed painting and remedial works were completed throughout the yacht, resulting in a vessel that presents and performs to a high standard. With a tonnage of 193 GT and a modest draft of 1.97 m, she is well suited to explore sheltered Mediterranean coves or to island hop through the Bahamas.

Her cruising characteristics are equally attractive: an economical range of approximately 700 nm at 14 knots, comfortable cruising speeds around 25 knots and a top speed of 28 knots, making La Rubia a compelling proposition in the superyacht, flybridge and luxury motor yacht segments.

La Rubia full description & key features

Built in 2011 and brought fully up to date by an extensive 600,000-euro refit in 2021, La Rubia currently lies in Kas, Turkey and welcomes offers. This 31.4 m Azimut 105, conceived to full U.S. specification and equipped with a European power converter, marries Italian design excellence with global versatility, its sleek, timeless exterior penned by Stefano Righini. The recent refit elevated the yacht's interior environment with all-new loose furniture, carpeting and soft furnishings in the master suite and main salon, creating a contemporary and inviting ambiance in the yacht's most lived-in spaces while the technical heart of the vessel received equally thorough attention: the engine room was comprehensively overhauled with work carried out on engines, generators, stabilisers and hydraulic systems; all teak decking was either renewed or carefully sanded and re-caulked; a new Marinecold air-conditioning system was installed; and targeted paintwork and structural repairs were completed across the vessel to ensure reliability and presentation at sea. With a volume of 193 GT and a moderate draft of 1.97 m, La Rubia is equally at home tracing the contours of the Mediterranean or island-hopping through the Bahamas, offering a range of seven hundred nautical miles at an economical fourteen knots, a comfortable cruise at twenty-five knots and a top speed of twenty-eight knots.

On board, La Rubia sleeps up to twelve guests in five beautifully appointed ensuite cabins, each finished with Travertino Navona marble bathrooms and elegant fixtures. The full beam master suite on the main deck is a private sanctuary, appointed with a king-size bed, Armani Casa furnishings and a spa-style bathroom with a jacuzzi bath and separate shower; the VIP suite and twin cabins continue the theme of understated elegance and comfort, while a media lounge converts seamlessly into a sixth guest cabin for added flexibility. Social areas have been conceived for effortless relaxation and refined entertaining: the expansive flybridge boasts a four-person Jacuzzi, a full wet bar, a dedicated dining area and generous sun loungers beneath a hard-top with a retractable sunroof; bow sunpads invite tranquil moments at anchor and the aft dining area, framed by panoramic windows and sliding glass doors, creates a seamless indoor-outdoor flow. A large swim platform and a tender garage accommodate a full complement of water toys and tenders, and modern conveniences including air conditioning and high-speed Wi-Fi are available throughout. Meticulously maintained and offered in exceptional condition, La Rubia presents a rare opportunity to acquire a pedigreed Azimut 105 that combines turnkey presentation, proven performance and thoughtful luxury living for discerning owners ready to enjoy life at sea.
