OVERVIEW

A poised declaration of intent and elegance, this 108-foot 2027 motor yacht fuses the reassuring robustness of steel construction with a contemporary interpretation of onboard comfort. Her hull lines, penned by Bering Yachts and celebrated for ocean-going dependability, are realized in Turkey with a steel hull and steel decks, creating a composed platform that rides quietly through long passages. A generous 26-foot beam produces exceptional internal volume, allowing expansive salons, broad circulation, and inviting exterior decks that make long days underway feel as effortless as evenings at anchor. Propulsion comes from twin Caterpillar engines, offering the dependable thrust experienced owners expect: an economical 10-knot cruising speed and the ability to reach roughly 12 knots when the voyage requires a brisker pace. That measured performance underscores the yacht's blue-water temperament, leveraging the stability and durability inherent in an all-steel build for comfortable, extended cruising.

The interior presents a refined yet eminently livable environment—a sophisticated backdrop ready for personal finishes. Natural daylight and considered sightlines enhance generous lounge areas that flow naturally to alfresco terraces, promoting relaxed entertaining and unhurried family moments. Practical arrangements support life aboard: six heads ease daily routines for guests, while three dedicated crew cabins ensure professional service and discreet operation, preserving a clear separation between guest and working spaces.

Every element reflects a philosophy of purposeful luxury: from robust shell plating and a purposeful stance to quietly capable machinery and deliberate circulation, this yacht is engineered for easy weeks aboard, extended seasons away from port, and tasteful adventures in remote anchorages. Built in 2027 with Turkish craftsmanship, she offers the rare combination of a brand-new, steel motor yacht informed by authentic expedition heritage—ready for owner customization and immediate enjoyment.

Explorer yacht. Expedition yacht. Luxury motor yacht. Steel superyacht.

Long-range cruiser. Displacement-style motor yacht. Trawler-style yacht.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Bering 110

Discover the ultimate blend of rugged expedition capability and refined comfort aboard the Bering 110. At 33.1 meters, this yacht builds upon the legacy of the iconic Bering 88, expanding living spaces and elevating performance metrics while preserving the hallmark Bering qualities that make exploration as comfortable as effortless cruising. A steel hull and superstructure are engineered for extended offshore voyages and challenging conditions, delivering the security and durability demanded by serious passagemaking, while commercial-class systems add layered redundancy so the yacht remains as reliable as it is luxurious. Inside, a generous interior volume unveils an expansive saloon, a well-appointed galley, and a luminous dining area with panoramic views—equally suited to relaxed coastal days and elegant entertaining on long passages. Thoughtfully designed cabins for owners and guests prioritize privacy, comfort, and refinement at every turn, creating an atmosphere where elevated joinery and premium finishes balance elegance with practicality. Superior fuel capacity and efficient long-range cruising prepare you for transoceanic voyages without compromise, and the combination of large tankage with an optimized hull design ensures confident performance and steadfast sea-keeping. Life aboard is supported by advanced climate systems, modern galley appliances, and a meticulous, thoughtful layout that enables seamless living in remote or varied environments. On deck, generous open spaces accommodate toys, tenders, or fishing gear with ease, while still leaving ample room for al fresco dining and unhurried relaxation. Capable of operating across diverse destinations—from uncharted wilderness to well-equipped marinas—the Bering 110 delivers versatility and capability with minimal compromise, inviting you to go farther in consummate comfort.
