DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Main characteristics

This raised pilothouse motor yacht is engineered with a steel hull and aluminium superstructure, measuring 33 m (108 ft 3 in) LOA with an 8.06 m (26 ft 5 in) beam and a maximum draft of 2.08 m (6 ft 10 in), and an internal gross tonnage under three hundred GT.

Power is delivered by two Caterpillar C32 B Rated 750 hp at 1800 rpm engines to IMO Tier III standards, supported by two Kohler (or equivalent) 55 kW, 120/220 V, three phase, 1800 rpm generators.

With base engines, the yacht attains a maximum speed of fourteen knots, a high cruise speed of twelve knots, and a low cruise range of 3,400 nautical miles. Performance varies depending on engine selection.

In its standard arrangement, accommodations comprise five guest cabins for a total of ten guests and three crew cabins for a total of six crew.

Exterior styling is by StellarPM, naval architecture by Ginton Naval Architects (Netherlands), and interior design by Unzile Acar Interiors. Hull construction is certified by Lloyd's Register to +100A1 SSC, Yacht, Mono, G6.

Major options available

The conversion to ST108-M elevates the forward flybridge deck with integrated seating and a sunlounge, complemented by tables, secure handrails, a teak deck, and steps leading to the foredeck, while the master stateroom expands to a commanding full-beam layout for an unmistakably grand sense of space. An additional solar panel system further enhances autonomy, adding ten LG NeON R series or equivalent 420W high-performance solar panels; the array is managed by one controller located alongside the 24-volt lithium Mastervolt battery chargers, with one Mastervolt Combi inverter/charger delivering AC power to selected equipment.
