Fortune Elephant: A Testament to New Zealand's Yacht Craftsmanship

In the late 1990s, Alloy Yachts, celebrated for their innovative use of aluminum and luxury yacht design, embarked on a project that would highlight their engineering expertise and dedication to custom excellence: the creation of Fortune Elephant. Launched in 1997 from their Auckland shipyard, this 35.05-meter motor yacht stands as the sole Sheerline 115 model ever constructed, marking her as a distinctive presence in the superyacht category.

Design and Performance: Redefining Excellence

Fortune Elephant was crafted by the esteemed Warwick Yacht Design team, who oversaw everything from naval architecture to interior aesthetics. Her sleek, planing aluminum hull and superstructure offer not only lightweight durability but also remarkable speed and efficiency. With twin MTU diesel engines producing a total of 5,200 horsepower, she can achieve a top speed of 28 knots and cruise comfortably at 25 knots, surpassing many peers in the 35-40 meter range. Her range of 1,900 nautical miles at 10 knots allows for extensive voyages without compromise, while her 7.4-meter beam provides ample interior space (280 GT), exceeding the norm for yachts in her class.

Luxury and Comfort: A Haven on Water

Inside, Fortune Elephant is designed for both relaxation and entertainment. She accommodates up to 12 guests in 6 suites, with 5 crew members ensuring every need is met. The yacht's interior, finished to the highest standards, features spacious living areas, advanced entertainment systems, and amenities like air conditioning and a teak deck for ultimate comfort.

A Symbol of Prestige and Exclusivity

Fortune Elephant quickly became a symbol of exclusivity and prestige. Her unique design and outstanding performance make her a standout in the global fleet, ranking in the top 30% by length overall. A Proven Pedigree, a Coveted Asset Fortune Elephant is highly sought after, not only for her New Zealand pedigree but also for her proven reliability and timeless design. She is currently flagged in Thailand and available for inspections at Phuket Yacht Haven, a testament to her enduring appeal in Asia's vibrant yachting scene. Her story continues to inspire yacht enthusiasts and collectors worldwide, representing the pinnacle of Alloy Yachts' legacy of excellence.

Alloy Yachts: A Benchmark in Custom Superyachts

The story of Fortune Elephant is the story of Alloy Yachts itself—a shipyard that set new standards for custom luxury, performance, and innovation. Each Alloy yacht, and especially Fortune Elephant, is a testament to what happens when visionary clients, master designers, and world-class craftsmen come together to create something truly extraordinary.

"She represents the finest quality New Zealand craftsmanship... stylish lines, expansive accommodation, sophisticated entertainment facilities, and superb detailing."

For discerning buyers seeking a yacht with a proven pedigree, unmatched craftsmanship, and a unique story, Fortune Elephant is a rare jewel—an embodiment of Alloy Yachts' enduring reputation for excellence.
