DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Overview

ETERNAL 36 marks the introduction of Bellini Yachts' Superyacht collection following the success of the Fiberglass series. At 36 metres in length, she is intentionally designed to convey the presence and generosity of a much larger vessel, with 299 gross tons artfully arranged across four principal decks. A 7.70 metre beam underwrites notably spacious interior and exterior volumes, while expansive glazing and sliding doors draw natural light and sweeping sea views deep into the yacht, creating a fluid relationship between indoor living and alfresco spaces.

Life aboard is centred close to the water on an elegant teak platform that integrates a swimming pool and a sequence of tiered aft terraces crafted for lounging, dining and relaxed entertaining over multiple levels. Forward on the main deck the owner's suite enjoys panoramic vistas, extensive glazing, private en suite facilities and a dedicated workspace, delivering elevated comfort and discretion for long-range passages. Interiors by M2 Atelier combine soft, flowing lines with warm timbers, pale travertine, light fabrics and soft grey leather to form a contemporary yet welcoming environment that feels refined and inviting.

Conceived as an explorer yacht capable of unrestricted ocean cruising, ETERNAL 36 pairs a steel hull with an aluminium superstructure and benefits from naval engineering by Hydro Tec. Performance is assured and efficient, with a maximum speed of 13.5 knots, a comfortable cruising speed of 12 knots and a range in excess of 4,000 nautical miles at 10 knots. The result is a compact 36 metre yacht that concentrates 299 gross tons across four decks, leverages a 7.70 metre beam for expansive living areas and offers multi level aft terraces with a broad teak platform and integrated pool—an ensemble shaped by a dedicated design and build team to deliver a compelling sense of connection to the sea.

Interior

M2 Atelier conceived the interiors of ETERNAL 36 to prioritize light, natural materials and a deep affinity with the sea; warm woods, tactile finishes and soft architectural curves foster a serene, contemporary ambience, while fluid lines and an uninterrupted spatial flow bind every area of the yacht into a harmonious whole.

Main salon

The main-deck saloon gracefully merges expansive lounge and dining quarters within a refined open-plan environment, fashioned to welcome informal socialising as well as elegant entertaining. The layout is conceived to promote effortless circulation, an airy sense of transparency and uninterrupted sightlines, with a cohesive visual language that carries through the entire yacht, resulting in a space that feels both generously spacious and intimately connected.

Accommodation

ETERNAL 36 comfortably accommodates up to twelve guests, centered around a sumptuous owner's suite located forward on the main deck, with additional guest cabins arranged on the lower deck and a professional crew of seven quartered in four dedicated cabins.

Owner's suite

Positioned at the fore of the main deck, the owner's suite presents a refined fusion of a tranquil sleeping sanctuary, a dedicated private workspace and notably generous en suite accommodations, all appointed for refined living. Oversized glazing draws abundant natural light into the cabin while maintaining a discreet sense of privacy, resulting in a luminous, secluded retreat that delivers immersive surrounding views.

Waterside living

The aft decks of the ETERNAL 36 are conceived for life at the water's edge, where an expansive teak platform flows into a built-in pool and a series of stepped lounging terraces set directly above the sea, while additional outdoor levels rise aft and upward to form elevated dining and relaxation zones from which guests can fully savor the surrounding views.

Beach club

The generously proportioned beach club marries an integrated swimming pool with a dedicated tender garage to form an exclusive retreat at the water's edge, allowing seamless transitions from relaxed swims to immediate tender launch within an exquisitely conceived waterside enclave.

Exterior

The ETERNAL 36, conceived by Davide Benaglia, marries a distinctive exterior language with a deliberately arranged layout that emphasizes generous open air living and an unbroken connection to the sea. Elegantly sculpted profiles and expansive alfresco areas foster a seamless circulation, ensuring the ocean is experienced as a constant, immersive presence from every angle.

Naval architecture

Designed by Hydro Tec, the vessel's naval architecture and marine engineering embody a meticulously balanced approach that optimizes internal volume while exercising exacting control over weight distribution, enhances acoustic comfort to a refined standard, and ensures consistently reliable overall performance. The hull's hydrodynamic characteristics were developed and rigorously validated through extensive CFD analysis, delivering efficient, composed behavior across a broad spectrum of sea states and operating conditions.

Propulsion & Stabilisation

ETERNAL is propelled by twin Caterpillar C18 ACERT engines, compliant with IMO Tier III standards, providing refined, efficient power with steadfast reliability. An advanced active stabilisation system works both underway and at anchor, and the engineering has been carefully honed to suppress vibration and reduce noise, creating a tranquil, exceptionally comfortable environment throughout the yacht.

Long-range cruising

Designed to conquer open-ocean voyages without compromise, the ETERNAL 36 pairs genuine long-distance independence with a peak speed of 13.5 knots. She delivers a serene 12-knot cruising pace for comfortable passages, and when maintained at an economical 10 knots her range extends beyond 4,000 nautical miles.
