OVERVIEW

The Amer F 126 is a 37.8 metre superyacht that marries avant garde styling, environmental mindfulness, and custom luxury. Conceived by Antonio Luxardo/Optima Design, her crisp contemporary silhouette is defined by expansive decks and sweeping glazed surfaces that flood the interior with natural light. Inside, the motor yacht offers a serene, refined atmosphere: a full beam owner's suite on the main deck frames wide angle ocean panoramas and houses a private lounge alongside a spa inspired ensuite. Below, four exquisitely appointed guest staterooms on the lower deck each enjoy their own ensuite, the joinery and finishes rendered with meticulous care to create intimate havens for rest.

The open plan salon flows naturally onto the aft deck through broad sliding doors, erasing the line between sheltered comfort and open air, while tailor ready palettes—fine Italian leathers, hand finished woods, and honed stone—provide a luxurious canvas for personal expression. Outside, the flybridge configuration celebrates both form and utility: a capacious aft deck conceals a hydraulic transformer platform that drops to sea level and becomes a fully fledged beach club, ideal for sunbathing, swimming, or launching tenders. Above, the flybridge commands panoramic views and is appointed with a bar, generous sunpads, and a shaded alfresco dining zone for relaxed outdoor entertaining. Wide side decks lead forward to a roomy lounge with an optional Jacuzzi, creating multiple secluded retreats.

Detailing such as precision polished stainless accents and configurable deck plans underscore Amer's commitment to elegance and innovation, while discreet, well separated crew quarters guarantee attentive yet unobtrusive service. Propulsion is entrusted to a quad Volvo Penta IPS pod drive system, delivering quiet efficiency, nimble handling, and a velvety ride—definitive qualities for effortless, sustainable cruising.
