OVERVIEW

Delivered new in 2028 and currently located in Greece, this 148-foot motor yacht marries contemporary refinement with genuine seagoing capability. A sweeping 26-foot beam immediately conveys presence, while a monohull formed from advanced fiberglass and finished with durable GRP decks promises a composed ride, straightforward maintenance and enduring elegance. The proportions and construction are at once modern and timeless, equally suited to cutting an elegant silhouette along the Cycladic skyline or to confident passages on the open sea.

Propulsion comes from twin MTU inboard units that provide effortless authority, settling into a comfortable 13-knot cruising speed and capable of pushing to approximately 17.5 knots when called upon. With fuel capacity in excess of 10,500 gallons and nearly 1,930 gallons of fresh water aboard, she is designed for extended island-hopping without compromise, while a shallow draft of just over 7 feet grants access to secluded anchorages and fashionable harbors that larger yachts must avoid. The marriage of contemporary engineering, robust GRP construction and considered dimensions results in quiet confidence underway and serene comfort at anchor.

Generous open decks create broad, sunlit living spaces and refined evenings beneath the stars, framing uninterrupted views across the Aegean and beyond. Whether imagined as a private retreat or as a distinguished entry in a high-end motor yacht program, this 2028 build offers a compelling synthesis of presence, performance and practicality—an inviting platform for effortless Mediterranean living, crafted for those who prize understated luxury, modern reliability and the enduring appeal of a well-executed monohull superyacht.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Majesty 145: a new expression of luxury, innovation and performance

The Majesty 145 marries contemporary refinement with advanced naval engineering and exemplary craftsmanship, composing a 45-metre superyacht that reinterprets life at sea. Generous floor-to-ceiling glazing, transparent glass railings and balustrades, and extended outdoor terraces draw the horizon inward, creating uninterrupted sightlines and a constant dialogue with the ocean from virtually every vantage point on board.

Designed around openness and effortless comfort, her layout encourages a seamless progression between polished interior salons and expansive exterior decks, where panoramic vistas become an integral part of daily life. Carefully arranged shaded lounges and broad terraces provide gracious spaces for both sophisticated entertaining and tranquil relaxation, while elongated decks and thoughtfully integrated living areas dissolve the line between sheltered interiors and open-air living.

The yacht's defining waterfront retreat is a spectacular aft beach club appointed with sumptuous sun loungers, bespoke seating and innovative fold-down terraces that expand usable space. A refined hydraulic Transformer facilitates direct water access, and extended platforms increase the beach club's usable area by more than 40%, reinforcing an intimate connection with the sea while offering generous room for leisure and waterside activities.

Inside, the Majesty 145 is finished with premium materials and exacting attention to detail, where abundant natural light pours in through full-height glazing to create an inviting and luminous atmosphere. Six exquisitely styled guest cabins are complemented by versatile entertainment areas and fluid indoor–outdoor arrangements, delivering an elegant equilibrium of privacy and conviviality.

Purpose-built for dependable long-range cruising, the Majesty 145 is propelled by twin 2,400 hp engines, supported by two 99 kW generators and a generous fuel capacity of 10,566 US gallons, a combination that ensures robust performance, efficiency and an extended range for distant voyages. With striking architectural lines, inventive features and the shipbuilding mastery of Gulf Craft, the Majesty 145 sets a new standard for contemporary superyacht living.
