DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Delivered by Benetti in 2000, COME PRIMA is from the Golden Bay 50 series

Delivered by Benetti in 2000, COME PRIMA is a nearly 50-metre example of the celebrated Golden Bay 50 line, a series known for its generous volume, dependable systems and timeless elegance. With exterior lines penned by Stefano Natucci, she evokes the refined character of larger Benetti yachts of her era while offering true long-range cruising capability. Built with a steel hull and aluminium superstructure, COME PRIMA was engineered for serious voyaging, prioritising onboard comfort and seakeeping, and her substantial internal volumes—496 GT gross tonnage—together with an approximate range of 3,200 nautical miles, make her equally at home on Mediterranean passages or more ambitious itineraries.

Her exterior decks provide extensive areas for relaxation and socialising, arranged as multiple zones to enjoy life aboard whether at anchor, underway or on prolonged cruises. A classical silhouette, harmonious proportions and a capacious upper deck combine to give COME PRIMA an elegant and instantly recognisable presence. Inside, the atmosphere is warm, inviting and discreetly luxurious, with accommodations designed for private and refined entertaining; she sleeps up to 12 guests while a professional crew ensures smooth, unobtrusive service. Twin MTU engines deliver a maximum speed of around 18 knots and an economical cruise of roughly 13 knots, striking a measured balance between comfort, range and performance. COME PRIMA represents an appealing proposition for a buyer seeking a well-proportioned 50-metre Benetti with a strong pedigree, solid construction and genuine potential for private ownership or charter operation.
