OVERVIEW

The listed figure is provided for guidance only, and all reasonable offers will be welcomed and reviewed with courtesy.

The 2004 Cobia 214 Center Console presents a carefully conceived 21 foot sportfishing platform that marries purposeful angling capability with the refinement expected of a premium family dayboat. Trailerable and thoughtfully laid out, this center console model performs admirably as both a focused saltwater fishing boat and a comfortable, versatile vessel for leisure cruises, making it a desirable addition to any collection. This attractive 21 foot Cobia is now available for acquisition.

Presently, the boat shows signs of intermittent inactivity and will benefit from commissioning, cosmetic attention, and routine mechanical servicing before return to regular use. A trailer accompanies the vessel; please note the trailer is conveyed without documentation. Prospective purchasers are encouraged to view the boat in person and to submit offers with confidence following inspection.

The trailer offered is described as a Continental double axle bunk style unit. Through our network we can organize nationwide transport, provide custom cradles, and arrange port delivery for overseas shipments; logistics coordination and formal quotations are available via our Mendon, MA office, and trailers may also be sourced through our St. George, SC location. A separate notation in the listing elsewhere indicates that a trailer may not be included with this sale; buyers should confirm the trailer's presence and status at the time of viewing to avoid any uncertainty prior to purchase.

For specific information on engines and onboard systems, please refer to the Motors and Machinery Disclaimer below. We can assist with nationwide transportation using certified marine transport partners, including bespoke cradling and export support to port; detailed logistics assistance and pricing can be obtained from our Mendon, MA team.

Motors and Machinery Disclaimer: No representations are made regarding the condition of any engines, motors, or onboard machinery. Photographs of machinery spaces may be supplied, but it remains the buyer's responsibility to inspect and verify actual condition. Do not assume that accessories or loose equipment are included or stored with the vessel. This unit is offered strictly in its present state and appearance; please base any offer on what is observed at the time of inspection.

General Disclaimer: The Company presents the details of this vessel in good faith, but accuracy and vessel condition are not guaranteed or warranted. Buyers are encouraged to independently verify any particulars of importance. This boat is offered subject to prior sale, price change, or withdrawal without notice.
