OVERVIEW

Displayed price is indicative only, and courteous offers are welcomed. The 2003 Maxum 2400 SR is an elegant 24 foot fiberglass bowrider and runabout that marries adrenaline ready watersports capability with the easygoing comfort of a day cruiser. Its deep V hull confers surefooted handling while abundant storage and a flexible layout accommodate seating for 10-11 passengers, making it equally suited to towing skiers and tubers or slipping between marinas for a languid sunset cruise. Powered in its class by the lively MerCruiser 5.0 sterndrive typical of this model, the 2400 SR presents a sleek profile and family friendly arrangement that places it firmly among bowriders, sport boats, and trailerable day cruisers.

This particular example suffered water intrusion into the engine compartment after the stern settled below the waterline; the helm area reportedly remained dry and elevated. Because of that flooding event the propulsion unit will require either a complete rebuild or a full replacement, and prospective purchasers are encouraged to inspect the machinery and submit their best offer on the boat and included trailer. Please refer to the machinery note below regarding the propulsion system.

A painted dual axle trailer accompanies the vessel, simplifying transport and storage and underscoring the boat's trailer ready versatility. Nationwide and international logistics can be coordinated through reputable marine transport specialists, with options for custom cradles and port delivery available upon request, allowing flexible delivery arrangements to suit the buyer.

No representations are made about the condition of the engines, mechanical systems, or onboard equipment. Photographs may depict machinery and fittings but it is solely the buyer's responsibility to assess and verify operational status. Do not assume any stored accessories or loose gear are included; the vessel is offered strictly as seen and bids should reflect only the equipment present at viewing.

All particulars are offered in good faith but without guarantee as to accuracy or vessel condition. This offering is subject to prior sale, price change, or withdrawal without notice. All marine assets, whether sold or brokered, transfer AS IS, WHERE IS, with no warranties expressed or implied, including merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, and no verbal statements shall alter these terms.
