OVERVIEW

A poised and polished 32 foot Sea Ray from 2021, this deep V sport cruiser combines purposeful engineering with inviting accommodations to deliver weekend escapes that feel both exhilarating and effortless. Designed around Sea Ray's celebrated deep V running surface and built in fiberglass, she moves with composed authority from dawn departures to late afternoon anchorages, inspiring confidence whether carving coastal lanes or easing into a sheltered cove.

Propelled by twin MerCruiser power, the boat responds instantly to the helm with smooth, balanced thrust. She settles into a comfortable 25 knot cruise and will stretch to roughly 35 knots when you want to extend the horizon. The Sea Ray-designed deep V hull bites into turns and softens chop, while a 10 foot beam contributes noticeable stability at rest and during passage. Together, the structural engineering and fiberglass construction produce a quiet, solid ride that reads as distinctly upscale.

The deck arrangement is generous and intuitive, composed for easy movement and socializing. Broad, secure side decks and a tidy, confidence inspiring cockpit invite guests to wander or linger, while the driver focused helm offers excellent sightlines and well weighted mechanical ergonomics that make close quarters handling a pleasure. Whether hosting a sunlit afternoon with friends or setting course for a remote anchorage, the layout turns time aboard into relaxed quality time.

Belowdecks, Sea Ray's interior planning makes the most of the 32 foot footprint with a bright, airy atmosphere and refined touches throughout. The open plan salon flows naturally from daytime lounging to evening dining and converts for overnight use, while accommodations sleep four with thoughtful stowage distributed throughout so you can pack for extended weekends without compromise. The galley is well equipped to support easy meals underway, and the enclosed head—complete with vanity, sink, and shower—provides the privacy and finishing details expected at this level. Practical systems and tankage support genuine independence on the water. With approximately 150 gallons of fuel aboard, this express cruiser is set up for generous coastal ranges, and about 35 gallons of freshwater allows for comfortable overnights. The balance of capability and convenience makes the boat simple to manage for a couple yet roomy enough for family and friends. Located in Mexico and crafted in 2021, this 32 foot fiberglass express is a versatile, all season companion equally suited to dashing between marinas, exploring the Sea of Cortez, or settling into a quiet bay for an unhurried weekend afloat. Ideal as a sport cruiser, express cruiser, coastal cruiser, weekend cruiser, or luxury dayboat, this Sea Ray deep V with twin MerCruisers stands out as a stylish, performance minded family cruiser that rewards every nautical mile.
