OVERVIEW

The Ribco Seafarer 36 X presents itself as a 10.97-meter center-console performance powerboat, its sleek fiberglass/GRP hull cutting a confident line through the water with a 0.70-meter draft and the ability to reach 60 knots, while accommodating up to 10 guests. Built and certified to CE Category B standards, it is engineered for assured coastal passages of up to 200 miles, marrying seaworthiness with high-speed capability.

Graceful yet exhilarating, the Seafarer 36X conceals two cabins within its profile and offers two expansive sunpads, twin rows of seating and a separate bathroom, creating versatile spaces for both day use and overnight comfort. Equally at home as a luxury dayboat, a weekend cruiser, an offshore performance vessel, a chase boat or a superyacht tender, it enables glamping-style nights aboard with sleeping for four across two berths, elevating short escapes and extended voyages alike.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Overview

The Ribco Seafarer 36 X is an impressive 10.97-meter center console boat that blends high performance with modern luxury, its sleek fiberglass/GRP hull carrying a shallow draft of just 0.70 meters so it slips confidently into lagoons and close-in bays while remaining poised offshore. Powered to reach speeds of up to 60 knots, the hull-and-power pairing delivers a thrilling ride with exemplary stability and precise control, and CE certified (Class B) for offshore use it meets stringent safety standards and is capable of covering up to 200 miles of coastline. Designed to host up to 10 passengers, the Seafarer 36 X artfully balances space and sophistication: two cleverly concealed cabins create private, restful retreats at sea; two expansive sundecks invite languid sunbathing; and two rows of deeply cushioned seating ensure guests travel in comfort, while a separate bathroom elevates convenience on longer passages. More than a day boat, it is an inspired platform for multi-day, glamping-style escapes, with accommodations for four people overnight across two cozy berths. Whether indulging in high-energy daytime exploration or easing into a serene night on the water, the Seafarer 36 X elevates every maritime moment with key features that include very low hours, a carbon fiber T-top with solar panels, elegant teak decks, two hidden cabins accommodating up to four people, a broad swim platform, and an upgraded engine package that underscores the boat's sporting intent.

Walkthrough

At the bow a small and elegant hard nose forms a surefooted step for boarding and disembarking, while recessed cleats are perfectly positioned to minimize snagging and eliminate injury risk, and the bow sundeck is generously sized for indulgent lounging and sunbathing. Forward, a compact hatch gives access to the windlass compartment and anchor chain, with the chain exiting through the stem and settling precisely on its stainless-steel base, and a larger hatch raised by an electro-hydraulic mechanism unveils a spacious forward double berth comfortably suited to two adults. The T-top is perhaps the defining feature of the Seafarer 36 X: crafted entirely from carbon fiber it is at least 100 kg lighter than a conventional structure and keeps the center of gravity lower, harmonizing beautifully with the boat's overall layout. Two independent, modular backrests—long a hallmark of the brand—pivot forward to transform the cockpit into a vast aft sunbed capable of hosting several guests, while the stern sofa easily seats four adults and leaves a practical central passageway for smooth movement toward the engines. Beneath the aft sunbed a large storage compartment converts quickly into a berth for two adults, extending the boat's overnight capability, and aftmost the swim platform remains blissfully free of obstacles, granting unencumbered movement for swimming, docking, and effortless boarding.

Navigation and instruments

The helm is equipped for confident coastal and offshore runs with a GPS Raymarine AXIOM Pro 12" RVX featuring digital switching, a Raymarine VHF for clear communications, a powerful search light for night operations, and an AIS transponder to enhance awareness and safety among surrounding traffic.

Deck and cockpit

The carbon T-top integrates a fixed windscreen with wiper to shield the helm, while the console hosts a marine toilet with a sink for added privacy and comfort; entertaining is effortless at the wet bar which includes a fridge and a sink with sociable seating for up to three, and practicality is assured by a deck wash system offering both saltwater and freshwater, keeping the decks spotless throughout the day.

Electric equipment

Illumination is both efficient and atmospheric thanks to LED exterior and interior lighting, complemented by dramatic underwater lights for evening allure; shore power with a charger keeps onboard systems topped up and ready, while a dedicated search light adds precision and confidence after dark.

Upholstery

Comfort shading comes from a sun tent Bimini fitted to the T-top, with tailored covers safeguarding every touchpoint; a full boat cover for winter storage and a dedicated console cover preserve finishes and materials season after season.

Safety equipment

Prepared for peace of mind the inventory includes three smoke flares, six robust fenders, four lines of 10 m each for versatile mooring, a Wurth toolbox for quick fixes, and ten marine auto-inflate life jackets to protect every guest aboard.

Machinery

Power comes from main engines 2 x 400 V10 XXL of the Mercury Verado family, delivering assertive, whisper-smooth thrust with just 60 engine hours as of 4/1/2024. Performance metrics are emphatic, with a maximum of 56 knots, an effortless cruising band of 25–35 knots, and an economical pace at 23 knots for extended range; together with the upgraded engine package highlighted among the boat's key features, the Seafarer 36 X confirms its ability to thrill at speed while remaining composed and efficient.

Broker remarks

This is a true masterpiece of aesthetics, perfected to the last detail, that instantly turns heads and speaks to the high level of innovation and development that defines the Ribco shipyard.
