OVERVIEW

The “current price” is an indication only, and all serious offers are welcomed and considered. The 1986 Trojan F36 Sedan blends Trojan’s traditional craftsmanship with a versatile sedan-cruiser layout that performs equally well on an inshore game-fishing day or while carrying family and friends on a polished weekend passage. With a generous 13' beam and a solid fiberglass hull, this 36-foot sedan presents the classic Trojan profile while delivering a composed ride and interior volume uncommon in a vessel of this length.

Large salon windows wash the main cabin in natural light, and the open sedan arrangement creates effortless flow from cockpit to living areas—an ideal arrangement for entertaining, coastal cruising, or focused sportfishing. For owners who value comfort, reliability, and enduring style, the Trojan 36 remains a sought-after classic; this example has been carefully preserved and is ready for immediate enjoyment.

Recent engine servicing combined with selective upgrades make her an attractive turnkey option whether your plans are relaxed cruising or an efficient day on the grounds. Prospective buyers are invited to step aboard, inspect at their convenience, and submit offers based on their findings.

A trailer is not included with this vessel. Nationwide transport can be arranged through reputable marine shippers, with quotes available upon request.

Custom cradles and delivery to a port for international export can also be organized, and full logistics support is available to ensure a smooth, worry-free shipment.

Please refer to the Motors and Machinery Disclaimer for important information regarding propulsion and onboard systems. Nationwide transport assistance remains available through trusted providers, and we can facilitate custom cradles and port delivery for overseas shipment with comprehensive logistics and quoting to meet your schedule.

Motors and Machinery Disclaimer: No representation is made regarding the condition of engines, motors, or machinery. Images may display the machinery spaces, but it is solely the buyer's responsibility to inspect and verify the actual condition.

Do not assume that any accessories, spare parts, or loose equipment are included unless they are present and confirmed at the time of viewing; the vessel is offered strictly as seen. Buyers should base offers on the inventory aboard at inspection.
