OVERVIEW

Bold yet refined, this 2021 39-foot motor yacht marries Italian design sensibility with Scandinavian restraint and currently lies in Norway, offering a graceful synthesis of sport-cruiser adrenaline and express-cruiser comfort. The monohull's profile reads as both an elegant dayboat and a capable weekender: sleek lines promise performance while an accommodating layout invites relaxed living aboard.

Power comes from twin Volvo Penta inboard diesel engines that provide assured, economical thrust—steadying the yacht at an effortless 31-knot cruise and allowing bursts up to a thrilling 40 knots when the mood or horizon demands. A draft of less than 4 feet brings you close to shore and into hidden coves, while an 11-foot beam delivers composed, agile handling and a surprisingly generous sense of space. Built on a high-quality fiberglass composite hull with matching fiberglass decks, the structure feels solid beneathfoot and remains reassuringly quiet underway.

Inside, Officina Italiana Design has composed a calm, light-filled interior where tactile surfaces, tailored upholstery, and thoughtful storage evoke a boutique atmosphere ideal for unhurried weekends. The salon is well proportioned, moving effortlessly from daytime lounging to intimate evenings; a compact galley supports uncomplicated onboard dining; and an enclosed head with shower introduces a touch of spa-like convenience. Abundant natural light and carefully selected finishes make the interior as inviting at anchor as it is practical at sea.

On deck, the open cockpit is tailored for everything from Mediterranean-style lunches to long, luminous Nordic sunsets. The helm offers clear sightlines, side passages are secure, and sociable seating flows into a broad aft platform that is perfect for swimming, boarding a tender, or pausing above glassy water. Generous fuel capacity encourages spontaneous passages and the ample freshwater supply keeps comforts within reach whether you are hopping fjords or slipping away for a long weekend.

Equally suited as a luxury tender, spirited performance cruiser, or family weekender, this yacht is a polished expression of modern yachting—fast when you wish, graceful when you arrive. For discerning owners seeking a refined sport cruiser/express cruiser with true monohull character, fiberglass craftsmanship, and dependable Volvo Penta inboard diesel power, it stands as a compelling invitation to explore Norway's coast and beyond.
