OVERVIEW

2022 40' Aluminum Motor Yacht — Twin Volvo Diesel Confidence

Built in 2022 and currently lying in the United States, this 40-foot aluminum motor yacht marries contemporary refinement with purposeful naval architecture. Her 12-foot beam gives the profile a poised, stable stance on the water, translating directly into generous interior volume and expansive deck areas that invite both convivial entertaining and tranquil solitude. The sleek silhouette conceals a surprisingly quiet, composed motion under way, equally suited to slipping into a fashionable marina or dropping anchor in a sheltered cove.

The full aluminum hull and deck are the backbone of her design, offering an uncommon blend of strength, lightness, and lasting good looks. Aluminum's proven resistance to blistering and fatigue and its low-maintenance character make this yacht an astute choice for those who cruise often and expect durable performance season after season. Structurally honest and engineered for longevity, the metal construction rewards owners with reliability and reduced upkeep.

Propulsion comes from twin Volvo inboard diesel engines, a combination that provides smooth throttle response, broad torque, and reassuring diesel safety. These engines lend themselves to confident handling in tight quarters and steady, economical progress on coastal runs or longer crossings. The twin-diesel arrangement enhances maneuverability and efficiency, ensuring the yacht performs with composure whether exploring nearby coves or extending a weekend into a longer voyage.

Boarding reveals a deck plan that flows with natural logic, encouraging movement and relaxed socializing. A generous cockpit accommodates open-air dining and easy conversation, while wide side decks allow safe passage between bow and stern. Inside, bright, contemporary interiors welcome with clean lines and premium finishes. Thoughtful layouts create distinct zones for dining, lounging, and meal preparation, while well-appointed sleeping areas provide a calm retreat after a day afloat. The overall atmosphere balances refinement with approachability, ideal for couple escapes, family holidays, and entertaining friends.

At the helm, visibility is crisp and controls are intuitively placed to inspire confidence in every condition. Modern onboard systems support comfortable cruising, from efficient power management to cleverly arranged storage that keeps extended trips organized and serene. Ownership is defined by peace of mind: an all-aluminum build, the sensible economy of twin diesel Volvo engines, and a 40-foot layout that feels both spacious and manageable. This yacht elevates everyday cruising into an experience that is simple to enjoy, economical to operate, and elegantly prepared for whatever horizon comes next.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Main description

Now reduced by 50,000 and presented by a motivated seller who welcomes all offers, with trades strongly considered, financing available, and worldwide delivery arranged, this VQ40 stands out from ordinary 40-foot boats—for there are 40-foot boats, and then there is a Vanquish. Crafted in fully welded aluminum from hull to superstructure, it immediately separates itself from the fiberglass crowd, delivering a tighter, stronger, more rigid platform that feels planted at speed and composed in chop. There is no flex, no vibration, and no compromise—aluminum offers superior structural integrity, greater impact resistance, and long-term durability without the blister concerns associated with fiberglass. Vanquish has built its reputation on aggressive design, precision metalwork, and unapologetic presence. The aesthetic is bold yet minimalistic, with clean lines and uncluttered deck spaces devoid of unnecessary flash. Every element is intentional and performance-driven, so when a Vanquish enters a marina, it never blends in—it commands attention. Power comes from twin Volvo Penta D6-440 engines paired to DPI drives with joystick control and dynamic positioning, ensuring the responses you expect from a true sport yacht. Throttle pickup is instant, handling is crisp, and docking is effortless. Settle into an easy cruise in the low 30-knot range, then push confidently into the mid-40s when you want to feel her come alive. With approximately 1,000 original hours, the propulsion package has been properly exercised and meticulously maintained. The layout is clean and purposeful: a generous aft sunpad for lounging; deep, secure cockpit seating seamlessly integrated into the design; and a forward lounge that makes a 40-footer feel genuinely larger than expected. Below, a refined cabin with enclosed head and air conditioning offers practical overnight capability while preserving the same pared-back, modern aesthetic. This is not a production fiberglass day boat; it is an aluminum performance yacht with attitude, pedigree, and the engineering to back it up. Very clean, properly maintained, and truly turn key.
