OVERVIEW

Asking price is a guideline; thoughtful offers are warmly welcomed. Make an entrance wherever you cruise aboard this 2007 Cranchi Endurance 41, an Italian-built sport cruiser whose taut, athletic profile is balanced by an interior of refined comfort, a layout conceived for both spirited runs and leisurely weekends. Stretching to roughly 42 feet LOA with a beam just over 11 feet, this express cruiser rides on a proven deep V hull that eats up chop, tracks true, and can surge beyond 40 knots while retaining composed manners underway—authentic performance motor yacht pedigree.

Propulsion comes from twin Volvo Penta D6 diesel engines, producing a combined 700–750 HP that yields brisk acceleration, economical midrange performance, and a comfortable cruising pace in the 30 knot plus range. The smooth, robust drivetrain complements the agile hull form, rewarding the enthusiastic helmsman while remaining accessible for an experienced owner/operator, making both coastal hops and offshore runs equally appealing.

On deck the cockpit functions as an open air salon for entertaining, with generous U shaped seating gathered around a sociable table, a conveniently sited wet bar to ease hosting, and a forward sunpad that beckons for top deck lounging. A generous aft sun lounge spills seamlessly to the wide swim platform, creating a resort style terrace at the water's edge ideal for lazy anchorages and evening swims. The teak laid cockpit underscores the boat's Mediterranean flair and provides an elegant, practical surface for days afloat. Below, warm wood joinery and considered detailing elevate the atmosphere. The accommodation plan delivers four comfortable berths through a private forward cabin and a convertible salon, supported by a fully equipped galley and an enclosed head with shower to ensure the comforts expected of a proper cabin cruiser and weekender. Dayboat capacity for 10–12 people rounds out the vessel's versatility, making her equally adept at lively harbor gatherings and intimate overnight escapes.

This Endurance 41 is specified with the equipment most owners prize: GPS, radar, and autopilot for confident navigation; a generator and air conditioning for comfortable, independent stays aboard; and a bow thruster to simplify close quarters maneuvering. A full electronics suite and thoughtful systems integration leave her in turnkey condition for coastal cruising, harbor hopping, and entertaining in true luxury motor yacht fashion.

Overall presentation is strong for the year and reflects careful use; routine recommissioning should include servicing the outdrives, with only general freshening anticipated to restore her fully. A trailer is not included. For those familiar with the model, the blend of performance, layout, and build quality is difficult to match—an excellent opportunity for an owner seeking a fast, stylish powerboat with genuine overnight capability. Step aboard and you will understand why the Endurance name is so respected: sleek, sea kindly, and beautifully appointed as a dayboat, weekender, or compact performance yacht. Serious interest encouraged; compelling proposals invited.
