OVERVIEW

Conceived by Anvera in collaboration with naval architect Brunello Acampora of Studio Victory Design, the 42 Speedster pairs a refined Italian sensibility with a performance-focused hull: an advanced carbon-fiber deep V running surface equipped with patented variable-geometry steps that yield notable stability, improved efficiency and a top speed exceeding 50 knots. Its restrained, sculptural silhouette gives way to a luminous, open-deck arrangement that can be customized to suit the owner's preferences, accented throughout by couture-grade finishes and thoughtful appointments including a forward sunpad, an aft lounge and the option of an enclosed head. Propelled by three Mercury Racing 450 HP outboards for a combined 1,350 HP, this 42-footer delivers a thrilling, composed ride while retaining the meticulous build quality and scarcity characteristic of a limited-production Italian yard—equally at home as an elegant dayboat, a discreet superyacht tender or a high-performance chase vessel for the discerning enthusiast who demands both pace and polish.
