OVERVIEW

"The listed asking price should be regarded as a guideline; all serious offers will be considered." The 1995 Carver 430 CPMY quietly marries graceful exterior lines with purposeful, utilitarian design, offering the elegance of a flybridge motor yacht alongside the practical advantages of a cockpit motor yacht. Built on a robust fiberglass hull and driven by twin diesel engines, she tracks with confidence and delivers a composed, comfortable cruise. The elevated flybridge creates an inviting social helm, while the functional cockpit and hardtop-covered aft deck provide ideal settings for relaxing, entertaining or light fishing. Interior appointments in warm cherry wood surround a bright salon and a galley laid out for a capable cook, and the uncommon two-stateroom, two-head arrangement affords a true sense of privacy and livability. An aft cabin suite and thoughtfully proportioned living spaces enhance her appeal as a liveaboard, while balanced performance makes longer passages and weekend escapes equally effortless.

This vessel is being marketed as a bank-owned liquidation; cosmetically she appears to present well, though all mechanical, electrical and safety systems should be inspected and verified before reliance. Prospective buyers are encouraged to step aboard, conduct their own evaluations and submit offers accordingly. The Carver's interior volume is notably generous for a 43 ft overall yacht, with a 14 ft beam, a maximum draft of approximately 3.33 ft, a bridge clearance of roughly 15.33 ft and interior headroom near 6.42 ft.

Accommodations consist of two cabins and two full heads, a configuration well suited to extended cruising or refined weekending, and new photographs will be supplied as they become available to better illustrate condition and layout. No trailer is included with this sale. Domestic and international transport can be arranged, with custom cradle fabrication and port delivery services available on request to facilitate relocation of this diesel-powered cruiser wherever your next destination may be. Regarding propulsion and onboard systems, please consult the machinery disclaimer: no representation is made as to the condition or operability of engines, generators or related equipment; machinery-space images can be provided, but it is the buyer's responsibility to inspect, assess and determine actual condition prior to purchase.

Transportation assistance for both domestic and overseas moves may be organized, including bespoke cradle construction and export support when required. Again, the machinery disclaimer applies—no warranties or statements of mechanical condition are offered, and verification by the purchaser through physical inspection is essential. Do not assume that accessories, loose gear or additional equipment are included; the yacht is offered strictly as seen, and offers should be based solely on the equipment and features present at the time of viewing.

All information is supplied in good faith but is not guaranteed; buyers should independently confirm any specifics they consider material. This vessel is offered subject to prior sale, price adjustment or withdrawal without notice. All marine assets are sold AS-IS, WHERE-IS, without any express or implied warranty, including but not limited to warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, and no verbal agreements shall alter these terms. Experience the refined balance of space, style and functionality aboard this capacious Carver cockpit motor yacht—an elegant platform for memorable cruising and time on the water.
