OVERVIEW

A 2019, 55-foot motor yacht shaped by unmistakable Italian lineage, this beautifully maintained vessel blends spirited performance with graceful presence and contemporary refinement. The hull lines from naval architect Pierluigi Ausonio produce a surefooted deep V ride, while interior spaces penned by Francesco Guida unfold in bright, elegant comfort—every curve intentional, every finish carefully chosen. Currently lying in the United States and conceived for the discerning cruiser, she reconciles lively speed with long-range autonomy.

Propelled by twin MAN diesel inboards, she moves with quiet, assured authority, settling into a comfortable 23 knot cruise and able to push to roughly 30 knots when desired. The deep V form cleaves through a seaway with clean tracking, offering precise helm feedback and a composed experience for guests. A substantial 676 gallon fuel reserve enables ambitious coastal runs, and thoughtful engineering with easily accessible service points emphasizes reliability and straightforward ownership.

A broad 16 foot beam yields exceptional interior volume for a yacht of this size, opening generous exterior decks and airy interior living. The cockpit is ideal for relaxed entertaining and flows naturally to the salon, where expansive glazing fills the salon with daylight and frames open-water views. A well-equipped galley supports effortless hospitality from morning espresso to evening canapés. Below decks, Guida's smart layout provides a peaceful owner's stateroom and flexible guest accommodations, all served by two finely appointed heads. A separate crew cabin with two berths allows for owner operation or professional crew support as needed.

Built in advanced fiberglass composite with a fiberglass deck, the construction feels solid underfoot yet remains nimble underway. Freshwater capacity of 156 gallons supports extended weekends and longer escapes. Practical touches—ample storage, wide side decks, secure handholds, and intuitive helm ergonomics—underscore a design meant for real cruising as much as for admiring at the dock.

From sunset dinners aboard to open-horizon passages, this 55 footer offers the best of both worlds: the verve of a sport cruiser, the comfort and volume of an express, and the polish of a modern performance yacht, ready to elevate every nautical mile.
