DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Section name

The BGX73 is a sophisticated and revolutionary yacht that marries an elegant exterior silhouette with an intelligently arranged interior, where generous living spaces flow naturally from its refined lines. At the heart of this model lies the deliberate centrality of the owner's cabin, a standout feature positioned to grant direct access both to the main living area and to an adjacent private section that can be seamlessly transformed into a guest room when required. Natural light is a defining element of the BGX73, permeating the living areas through extensive glass surfaces that dissolve the boundary between outside and inside and allow the sea itself to become part of the décor. This thoughtful interplay of form, volume and transparency gives the BGX73 a design language that transcends convention, offering a transversal, utterly nautical presence that feels simultaneously innovative and warmly inviting.
