DETAILED DESCRIPTION

About the yacht

Delivered in 2011, the Fairline Squadron 78 is a 24-metre motor yacht that epitomizes British craftsmanship, marrying classic lines with generous comfort and reliable performance. Designed to make yachting effortless, she pairs elegant exterior proportions with spacious living areas and a considered layout that suits private cruising and high-end charter alike.

Inside, broad panoramic windows draw abundant natural light into the refined interior, establishing a fluid connection with the sea. A palette of rich wood veneers, high-quality materials and sophisticated furnishings shapes a main salon that is at once warm and contemporary, an inviting environment for entertaining, dining or simply relaxing in complete comfort.

Outdoor life is a highlight aboard the Squadron 78. The expansive flybridge serves as the yacht's social centre, featuring ample seating, a wet bar, alfresco dining and generous sunbathing areas framed by sweeping views. Forward, the large foredeck provides a tranquil space for sun-soaked repose, while the aft cockpit is perfectly suited to open-air meals or quiet moments just steps from the water. Each exterior area has been carefully arranged to maximize comfort and enjoyment from first light to the evening glow.

Accommodation is configured for up to eight guests across four en-suite staterooms: a sumptuous full-beam master suite, an elegant VIP cabin and two well-equipped twin guest cabins. Privacy, comfort and practicality have been central to the design of each cabin, ensuring a peaceful retreat after days exploring the coastline.

Driven by twin diesel engines, the Fairline Squadron 78 offers smooth, assured cruising with notable stability and responsive handling. A well-proven hull form delivers a comfortable ride in a wide range of sea conditions, while a practical layout and ample onboard volume make extended stays aboard relaxed and pleasurable.

Combining refined British design, spacious accommodation and superb onboard amenities, the 2011 Fairline Squadron 78 remains a standout in her category. With beautifully balanced indoor and outdoor living spaces, luxurious guest quarters and enduring styling, she presents an exceptional opportunity to undertake unforgettable journeys in absolute comfort, style and sophistication.

Equipments

Designed for effortless handling and refined cruising, this yacht is fitted with bow and stern thrusters to ensure precise maneuvering and a hydraulic platform that streamlines tender launching and direct access to the water. A passerella offers elegant and secure boarding, while a third control station provides additional confidence when docking. The onboard tender boat invites carefree exploration beyond the anchorage, and extended autonomy is maintained by a watermaker and inverter to keep comfort uninterrupted at sea. Entertainment is elevated with satellite TV, and navigation remains intuitive and reliable thanks to a dedicated chart plotter, so every passage is as smooth as it is enjoyable.

Other details

The 2011 Fairline Squadron 78, registered under the TC flag, is a carefully maintained example that combines robust performance with generous, elegantly appointed living spaces perfect for relaxed cruising. Self-sufficiency is assured by two Onan generators displaying 5,271 and 5,775 hours respectively, complemented by a Seafari watermaker producing 120 L/h and a satellite TV system that enhances onboard entertainment. Sleeping arrangements span four cabins—a full-beam Master, a luxurious VIP and two guest cabins—while a dedicated crew cabin for two ensures attentive, unobtrusive service. Rounding out the package is a four-metre Novurania tender powered by a 50 HP Yamaha engine, ready for seamless shore transfers and coastal excursions.
