OVERVIEW

Visionaria is a streamlined, modern flybridge motor yacht — a sophisticated superyacht cruiser extending to close to 30 meters overall. She is equipped with Seakeeper gyro stabilizers, a tender garage, a hydraulic swim platform and a suite of high-end amenities. Below decks the sleeping area comprises four welcoming guest cabins alongside two crew cabins accommodating three. Propulsion is provided by the Volvo Penta IPS pod-drive system, which reduces fuel consumption compared with conventional shaft drives and increases range by around 40%. This Amer 94 is powered by a triple Volvo Penta D13 IPS 900 installation. Sea trials show roughly 41 l/hour at 9.2 knots, with a planing top speed of 28–30 knots — an elegant performance and flybridge yacht perfectly suited to private cruising or luxury charter.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Amer 94 Visionaria

---

Amer 94 Visionaria is the third Amer 94 built by Amer Yachts, carrying forward the Italian yard's unwavering emphasis on fuel friendly cruising. Like her predecessor in the Amer 94 series, Visionaria is powered by a Volvo Penta IPS propulsion system. Introduced more than a decade ago, IPS drives save owners about 30 percent in fuel consumption compared to traditional shafts, while increasing range by about 40 percent. A triple 900 hp Volvo Penta IPS installation propels Visionaria with remarkable efficiency; sea trials confirmed consumption of only about 11 gph (41 lph) at 9.2 knots, and verified a 30½ knot top speed. The IPS configuration also enables megayachts to venture confidently into shallower waters: across the Amer 94 series the draft is just 6'1" (1.85 meters), propellers included. On deck, the yacht invites you to linger on the scenery from a welcoming U shape bow seating area and a flying bridge sheltered beneath a hardtop—two ideal vantage points to savor every horizon. Below, Visionaria offers a full beam master stateroom—beam is 20'7" (6.3 meters)—complemented by three additional staterooms on the lower deck, delivering a luminous balance of space, privacy, and Italian refinement.
