OVERVIEW

CANDIDA measures 36.15 meters (118'60") and stands as an elegant testament to classic yachting, the work of Camper & Nicholsons completed in 1929. She presents a generous beam of 6.16 meters and draws 3.96 meters, her hull a solid marriage of wood and steel crowned by a teak superstructure that speaks to traditional craftsmanship.

Powered by twin CAT engines, each delivering 322 horsepower, she attains a maximum speed of 11 knots and maintains a comfortable cruising pace of 10 knots. Inside, the yacht welcomes six guests in tastefully appointed cabins, while her exterior silhouette reflects the refined hand of Charles E. Nicholson. As one of the rare surviving J Class yachts, CANDIDA carries both racing pedigree and preserved grandeur, transformed from a competitive J Class racer into a beautifully restored classic that still graces the regatta scene. This yacht for sale presents a unique chance to buy a yacht that embodies timeless elegance. Explore yacht sales in the current boat location to seize this extraordinary opportunity.
