OVERVIEW

SV Thalassa is a rare 1978 Fuji 40 designed by Sparkman & Stephens and built in Japan by Fuji Yacht Builders, a sturdy bluewater yacht that marries the classic S&S lines with modernized systems for serious offshore passagemaking. Her electrical and watermaking capabilities include 850 watts of solar generation and a watermaker producing approximately 6 gallons per hour, fitted with two newer membranes, while propulsion and power are supported by a Westerbeke diesel generator alongside a Westerbeke auxiliary engine showing roughly 2,700 hours. Onboard systems are robust and updated, featuring D4 Lifeline AGM house batteries, upgraded 12V refrigeration, a Simrad chartplotter, Class B AIS, VHF and SSB communications. Sail inventory and ground tackle have been refreshed with a new mainsail, additional spare sails, newly fitted lazy jacks, a Rocna anchor and 200 feet of chain, and the yacht comes with a complement of tools, spare parts and cruising gear.
