DETAILED DESCRIPTION

Bella A — 2011 Tirhandil

Built in 2011 with a traditional wooden hull, Bella A is a 14.80-metre Tirhandil whose graceful silhouette and 5.20-metre beam combine classic character with practical comforts; she flies the Turkish flag and is presently berthed in Bodrum, Türkiye. Propulsion is provided by a Yanmar 240 HP diesel engine with roughly 780 hours recorded, while a Side-Power SE 100/185T bow thruster assures confident manoeuvring in tight harbours. Deck gear supports efficient sail handling with two Antal W40 and two Antal W52 winches, and anchoring is managed by a Lofrans Falkon 1,700 W / 24 V windlass teamed with seventy-five metres of galvanised chain; fuel stores of 1,000 litres and a 500-litre holding tank extend her autonomy for longer stays at sea. The interior is arranged for relaxed cruising with family and friends: accommodation is variously described as one guest cabin containing two double beds or alternatively as two double guest cabins, complemented by a forward crew cabin for service and privacy. Guest facilities include a generous bathroom with an enclosed shower and a Tecma electric toilet, while the crew benefits from a separate Jabsco toilet, and air conditioning throughout the cabins and saloon ensures comfort in warm conditions. The galley is comprehensively equipped for effortless onboard living with a Siemens oven, a two-burner gas hob, two refrigerators located in the galley and bar area and a Vitrifrigo ice maker, supported by a 1,500-litre fresh water capacity to enhance self-sufficiency. Entertainment and systems have been thoughtfully specified with Samsung LCD televisions—twenty-two inches in the cabin and thirty-two inches in the saloon—receiving signal via a Sea Tel antenna, while a Pioneer MVH-MS410BT sound unit and two speakers provide onboard audio; shipboard power and ambience are managed by a Victron 2000 inverter/charger and Indigo LED lighting. Navigation and situational awareness are delivered by a Lowrance HDS 10 GPS/chartplotter and radar suite, with a Simrad AP24 autopilot and IS20 Wind VMG instrument to assist passage-making, and shoreside access is made easy by a Highfield 290 tender powered by a Yamaha 8 HP four-stroke outboard. Marrying the distinct charm of the Tirhandil form with an extensive equipment list and a considered accommodation plan, Bella A presents an attractive wooden yacht option for those who prize authenticity and comfort afloat and is available now for further enquiries.
