OVERVIEW

Born in La Grande-Motte on the French Mediterranean coast, FUSION blends French atelier skill with an unmistakable American spirit. Every element is conceived to minimize weight, executed with machine level precision and refined by hand, the result of close collaboration with France's foremost specialists in yachting and composite engineering. Drawing on decades of accumulated expertise, the project realizes a design without concession and an elegantly restrained form of luxury. From tactile interior surfaces to aerospace grade laminates, each choice reinforces the Gunboat ethos: a high performance luxury catamaran — a multihull sailing yacht and cruising catamaran that unites speed, polish, and technical innovation for true bluewater cruising and offshore sailing.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

About gunboat

From pioneers to visionaries, Gunboat has defined the benchmark for a quarter of a century. We invented the high-performance cruising catamaran, fusing racing DNA with livable comfort to create a new category where speed meets lifestyle. We merged cutting-edge technologies with uncompromising onboard elegance—faster than the wind, built to last, designed to move you. Twenty-five years on, as the performance market leader, our pioneering spirit remains unchanged. Today a new era of sailing begins once again. The Gunboat FUSION 80 is not simply a yacht launch; it inaugurates an entirely new segment for sailing: the Gran Turismo Catamaran, a category conceived by Gunboat and a bold new territory for the brand—a philosophy where distance, design, and distinction move as one. FUSION 80 is the pioneer of this category, born of ambition to go further and faster, to live aboard in sculptural comfort, and to merge performance with presence. Why now? Because the market asked for more—more volume without losing performance, more lifestyle without sacrifice. The Gunboat FUSION 80 is our answer. More than a yacht, it inaugurates a new segment for those who demand it all—a yacht that refuses to choose between speed and serenity, thrill and elegance, fusing performance, presence, and sculptural living into something entirely new. Sail fast, live fully: FUSION is more than speed—it is a lifestyle designed around motion and emotion, to sail fast and far in true comfort, to host, relax, and entertain without compromise, to cross oceans with confidence and control, to live aboard a yacht that feels like home and moves like no other, making the sea the finest place to live. Owning FUSION is more than acquiring a yacht; it is joining a private network of pioneers who see sailing differently. To write this next chapter, Gunboat has gathered the finest design team in its history:

Patrick le Quément and Christophe Chedal-Anglais for exterior design, and Kristian Gavaille with Valérie Garcia for interior architecture—a community of explorers, innovators, and design lovers shaping the future of the sea together.

About fusion 80

Architecture in motion—FUSION introduces a new design language where motion-first hulls are engineered for velocity and offshore stability, sculpted volumes invite both performance and pause, and light and air are treated as materials rather than afterthoughts. Designed for life at sea, the yacht features a 19 m² (204.5 ft²) master suite with private sea access—a true penthouse at water level—an integrated flybridge that delivers panoramic command and an elevated social realm, a forward lounge cockpit that connects you directly to the ocean, and modern interior architecture defined by light, tactility, and residential elegance. A penthouse at sea means more than a cabin—it is an experience: 19 m² (204.5 ft²) of private retreat framed like a glass-walled sanctuary with direct access to the sea, complemented by lounge seating, a dedicated workspace, thoughtfully integrated storage, daylight architecture that floods the space with serenity, and a haven shaped by light and open to the horizon. Where life flows, FUSION's salon is conceived for seamless living with a dual-sided arrangement for lounging and dining, modular spaces that adapt to your mood, panoramic windows that merge inside and out, and materials curated for long-term liveability—from sunrise coffee to sunset dinners, this is where the rhythm of life unfolds. More than a cockpit—a destination, the elevated aft cockpit reimagines outdoor living with sculptural modular furniture for lounging and entertaining, a dining table for up to 10 guests, a fully equipped exterior wet bar, and a seamless connection between interior and sea, serving as both a vibrant social hub and a serene retreat. As a Gran Turismo Catamaran, power meets poise: at sea, speed is more than thrill—it is safety, range, and freedom. The FUSION 80 sails in just 6 knots of wind, effectively doubling your sailing days and minimizing engine use—reducing emissions through more sailing and less motoring—while advanced composite infusion, optimized weight, and VPLP naval architecture deliver offshore composure with exhilarating performance. Created for those who redefine the horizon, FUSION is for explorers who go further without losing style, sailors who crave control and elegance in every detail, families seeking a yacht that keeps pace with their dreams, and visionaries who do not follow categories—they create them.

Accommodations

The accommodations are conceived to balance privacy, privilege, and purposeful service. The Master Suite is a true statement space: a full-beam sanctuary with a walk-around bed, generous integrated storage, and direct private access to the sea, elevating life on board to the level of a waterfront residence. VIP Suites deliver an elevated guest experience with refined finishes, private bathrooms, and panoramic sea views that turn every passage into a retreat. The Captain's Cabin is purpose-designed for the skipper, ensuring discretion and proximity to the galley and crew for smooth operations. Complementing the guest spaces, the Crew and Service Areas are meticulously arranged: crew cabins are functional and well appointed to provide comfort and privacy for professional teams; a convivial crew mess offers a shared realm to relax, dine, and coordinate daily operations; and a fully equipped, efficiently organized galley connects directly to both crew and guest domains to enable seamless hospitality.

Interior & exterior highlights

From panoramic lounges to intimate retreats, every area is crafted to enhance life at sea. Outside, the aft cockpit becomes a shaded haven at the heart of life on board, the perfect setting for relaxed lounging or elegant dining, with a seamless flow between interior and exterior. Its signature features include a dining table for up to 10 guests, conceived for unforgettable moments with family and friends, a hydraulic tender lift discreetly integrated for effortless launch and recovery that also doubles as a private swim platform, and a centrally positioned wet bar that makes service effortless while connecting indoors and out. Forward, the cockpit evolves into an intimate lounge with a direct connection to the salon, curated for pure relaxation and uninterrupted ocean views, complete with a sunbed area with expansive cushions—your private terrace at sea—and broad, inviting steps to the water for swimming, diving, or launching water toys. Inside, a modular dining zone adapts to every occasion, from refined dinners to relaxed evenings under the stars; a dedicated lounging area invites reading, reflection, and the rhythm of the sea in comfort; a minimalist helm station is seamlessly integrated for elegance with purpose; and private suite access ensures discretion, allowing guests to reach their cabins directly and independently.

The elevated terrace

An open-air realm where dining, lounging, and sailing converge with panoramic views, the flybridge becomes the yacht's elevated terrace. A modular dining table seats up to 10 guests with effortless versatility, transitioning from elegant dinners to casual gatherings with equal poise. Generous dual-side sofas invite relaxation, conversation, or quiet contemplation of the horizon. A fully equipped wet bar is ideally positioned for seamless service, linking dining and lounging spaces with ease. Dual-side helm stations offer elevated, perfectly sighted control while remaining fully integrated into the social flow of the deck, ensuring that command and conviviality move together as one.
