DETAILED INFORMATION

Introduction

Take a world-class racing hull, add 750 hp and then fit it out with tournament tested fishing functionality. The result is a professional fishing machine that can take on everything, from a shot-gun start, to a blue marlin off of Bimini. There is a rigging station with a wash-down sink, two insulated fish boxes, a large lighted bait well, an optional bait station and plenty of rod storage. An FRP T-Top and stand up head compartment come standard. For the serious fisherman, the 35 Tournament is one impressive fishing machine. Run, fish, or play - any way you cut it, the 352 Tournament Center Console is a feel-good machine.

Features

Bench seating runs down each side of the bow, which expands the cruising and family fishing abilities of this boat. Underneath the seats are 6' overboard-draining fish boxes that will hold a whole school of smoker kingfish. There's a stowage area for all your rods and reels too, under a deck hatch. But it lacks any organizational scheme, which means you'll have to customize it to keep your gear secure. A second deck hatch accesses bulk stowage, enough to hold half a dozen five-gallon buckets or wakeboards and whatever water toys you may want to haul to the sand bar when the kids are onboard. Another family-friendly feature is the console, which has a portable MSD, freshwater sink, vanity, and plenty of stowage for toiletries. Abundant poly-board drawers and hatches that provide stowage in the gunwales from bow to stern. The optional leaning post on our test boat ($5,235) has even more stowage compartments, plus it adds a circular 40-gallon live well with clear lids, a sturdy grab rail, two rod holders, and comfortable flip-back helm bolsters.
