DETAILED INFORMATION

Vessel Walk Through

The Design:

The designers of the 34 Pilot were looking to create a comfortable boat for a couple or small family to spend time aboard. It had to incorporate a private stateroom, a full-service galley and a spacious head with shower. Other parameters included low maintenance, great sea keeping abilities and extremely economical operation.

The Hull:

When they were looking at different hull configurations, Mainship's naval architects looked at a multiple of designs and settled on the venerable lobster boat, the workhorse of the New England fishing fleet. Speed, comfort and economy are all present in the Pilot 34 hull. This 34, equipped with the optional twin diesel setup, sports prop pockets for reduced draft and a more efficient drive line angle.

The Cockpit:

Versatility is the theme of the Pilot 34. Whether your interest is in fishing, diving or just hanging out, there is plenty of space in the cockpit and bridge deck to handle it all. Stowage is something you can never find enough of and the 34 does its best to amaze you. The helm is positioned for perfect visibility and there is plenty of space for the latest electronics. Engine access is easy, with her large center-line hatch.

The Cabin:

Comfort is important and Mainship takes it seriously. Below you'll find a spacious salon with a solid cherry table surrounded by rich Ultra-leather seating and fine cherry wood bulkheads and furniture. Her luxurious dinette also converts to a queen size berth. To port, a super-functional galley complete with all the appliances is covered with a genuine Corian counter. Forward is the private master stateroom with hanging locker, drawers and additional storage. Aft, next to the companionway is the head with shower, linen storage and a Corian-topped vanity.
