Overview

"Taconite" is a 125 foot luxury yacht built specifically for sailing the spectacular coasts in the Pacific Northwest. Experience fine craftsmanship of a bygone era of yacht building- "Taconite" is constructed of teak on cypress ribs, with teak decking. She can accommodate ten guests in five staterooms; including a large master suite with an en-suite bath. Two of the guest staterooms include a bath en-suite, one with a shower. The yacht's crew has their own separate berthing area in the fore ship lower deck ahead of the engine room. The large Salon has ample viewing windows is a comfortable place to sit back and relax, watching the beautiful scenery glide past, read a good book or simply visit and enjoy the company. The covered aft deck is a spacious area to sit and enjoy the ocean wildlife on the way to your destination. The dining room with fine linens and wood high-backed chairs is adorned with intricate patterned rug and beautiful brass portholes. The Boeing family commissioned this yacht and was launched in 1930-and this vintage Classic continues to carry with her the aura of the time she was built.
