DETAILED INFORMATION

Remarks

---

The Doral 330 SE makes its mid-cabin the master stateroom, separates it from the rest of the boat with a real door, builds in a good-sized full-headroom dressing area to port and leaves the vast storage lockers, full beam width and port-and-starboard opening ports already found in Doral mid-cabins, to create a really comfortable room. With no worries about having to create a master suite forward, Doral uses the salon space to advantage. There's a large circular table right forward (which does convert into a large double bed if needed), along with a curving settee and elliptical table along the port-side wall. With the galley and enclosed head to starboard, the boat has a bright airy interior that makes as much sense for cruising as for entertaining. If you choose the Deluxe interior (installed on our test boat) you get cherry wood veneer interiors cabinetry and details; the standard white Octolam laminate is not as warm, but bright and cheerful. Either way, Doral's careful choice of upholstery, fabrics and laminates, along with a full fiberglass liner, gives the boat up-to-the-minute style in concert with easy-cleaning practicality. As for storage space, Doral always adds plenty. The new 330 SE is no exception. Topsides, the 330 SE also gets top marks for its rakish good looks and reverse radar arch. It's a boat that introduces style to comfort and blends the two qualities effortlessly. There's easy access forward through an opening windscreen, as well as walk around side decks. The aft cockpit invites relaxation with curving sofas and removable tables, but also makes room for storage and allows easy access to the engines under the floors.

Broker Comments

---

“No Business” is offered for the first time by her ORIGINAL Owner. She has just received many updates, like all new helm deck upholstery, Full cockpit enclosures and Bimini Top. The interior of this boat shows almost new and the exterior and engine room are a strong “8”.
