Overview

Own this well-kept, low hours, very spacious Bayliner 385 Express Cruiser!

Mainly fresh-water kept and under cover, she has a recent bottom paint, Mercruiser 300Hp that is economical and will have you cruising at 20-23 knots. She comes with a full cockpit enclosure, comfortable seating and sleeping for up to 6, a rarity on a 29-footer. Come see her in person, located off Lake Union in Seattle, WA.

New exterior and Interior pictures and video coming very soon! Call or Email for more details.

"For roughly the cost of an elite 25-foot bowrider, or less, bay liner offers this new 28-foot-7-inch sport cruiser. Think about it: a weekender with galley, full head and two private staterooms priced like a day-tripper. [...]The design lends volume to the cabin yet looks sleek from outside.

*Belowdecks, the side windows and a large overhead hatch allowed so much natural illumination that we never turned on the lights [...] This is one of the only sub-30 sport cruisers that we've tested in which the mid-stateroom is private, as in "has a wall and door." - Boating Magazine Review

"Down in the cabin was a living area that makes incredible use of the space available. At 9 feet 11 inches, the beam on the 285 is the widest of any single-engine cruiser on the market. It makes great use of every inch of it, and all the while you're surrounded by a ton of natural light.

*The diner-style dinette easily converts to a sleeper and the V-berth forward is the best place to relax to watch the optional 19-inch flatscreen TV. The galley has everything you'll need for a weekend on the hook with a microwave, alcohol/electric stove, solid surface countertop and sliding drawer storage in the pantry." - USBoatTest.com Review BS
