Overview

Carrying more people means fewer friends get left behind. But for those who want to overnight once in awhile, that means a cuddy that shuts off the whole bow of the boat for entertaining. Half the boat becomes useless, which means half the friends get left behind, all just to have a boat to spend a weekend on once or twice a season... until now. The design team at Cruisers Yachts has come up with a new model in its Sports Series lineup that combines the best of a massive bow rider with a large mid cabin suitable for overnighiting by a couple in comfortable surroundings without having to resort to crawl space to do it. It's the CSS 328 Bow Rider and we think it's about to start making waves.
