SPECIFICATIONS

Overview

PRICE REDUCED!! One of the few boats under 30 feet able to handle a full tower, the Albemarle 280 began life back in 1984 as the sterndrive-powered Albemarle 27. Jackshaft power became available in 1986, and in 1996 a major facelift—including a redesigned floorplan and a slightly raised deckhouse for improved cabin headroom—prompted Albemarle to reintroduce her as the 280/282/285 Express Fisherman. No lightweight, anglers have long appreciated the spacious and well-arranged cockpit of the 27/280 with its generous rod storage and topnotch fishing amenities. Below, the accommodations are spacious for a boat this size with V-berth forward, compact galley, and a standup head with shower. The interior is finished with quality hardware and fabrics throughout and accented with teak Priced below BUC Book for quick sale.

Current Retail Value Range	$64,900-$71,300 108th edition.
Fair Market Value Adjusted for BUC Condition in the North Atlantic	$64,900-$71,300
Replacement Value	$307,000
