SPECIFICATIONS

Overview

37m semi-displacement Heesen vessel, PERLE NOIRE is above all a combination of precision naval architecture and Heesen expertise in weight reduction. As a result, less power is needed to reach a given speed – and less power means less fuel consumption. Deck space on board has been fully maximised, right down to positioning a large quadruple sunpad on the foredeck. Stretching from vast sunpads, through the bar to a dining table that seats ten people, the sundeck measures almost 50 per cent of the yacht's overall length ! The superstructure is so strong that very few supporting pillars are necessary, resulting in uninterrupted views on all deck levels. Interior decks are incredibly elegant, combination of Gabriel Bernardi's design and exceptional build standards. Bespoke furniture was commissioned from some of the finest craftsmen across the world: freestanding cabinets made in England, light fittings handmade in France, marble hand-picked from Italian quarries, custom-woven. The configuration of the main saloon, with a single, long sofa, has resulted in an open-plan layout that provides expansive space in 37 metres. Evoking the glamour of the 1930s on the Cote d'Azur, contemporary interpretations of Art Deco themes are complemented by details such as the faithful reproduction of period French light fittings.

The full-beam master suite on the main deck is an exceptional example of simple elegance made extraordinary by using the best materials and the best craftsmen. Storage has been integrated into the fixed furniture. Three double cabins and one twin cabin have also been fitted in the interior deck of PERLE NOIRE.
