DETAILED INFORMATION

29 Albemarle

Cabin

290XF sleeps four, two in the V-berth and two more just above in Pullman berths that deploy from the hull sides. The cabin is nicely finished with teak joinery and a teak-and-holly sole—includes a compact galley with microwave, a large standup head with shower, and V-berths. She has the upgraded convenience package that includes a 4kw genset and reverse cycle A/C.

Helm/Cockpit

Her raised bridge deck layout consists of a roomy (about 60-square-foot) cockpit with two insulated fish boxes, one 49-gallon in the cockpit sole, and one 43-gallon box in the transom. A 21-gallon livewell is located at the port forward corner of the cockpit where it's close to the tackle/bait prep station. Like most modern express boats, the entire bridge deck lifts on hydraulic rams for engine access.
