ХАРАКТЕРИСТИКИ

Обзор

FISHTALES is an excellent performance racer cruiser that can win IRC, ORR and PHRF. This Archambault 40 RC has been kept in pristine condition and lovingly updated. Currently a fresh water boat, she shows little, if any, signs of use. Belowdecks she is well set up for cruising with 6'-6" headroom and three staterooms. Her rig, boom, and spade rudder are all carbon to provide strength while saving weight. Any knowledgeable buyer will not be disappointed upon seeing her!

WALKTHROUGH

(Excerpt written by Barry Henson, Editor, Australian Yachting - September/October 2009)

“The A40RC delivers a comfortable fit-out with wood cabinets and trim and upholstered settees. There are port and starboard aft cabins. These are generous single berths or what I like to call ‘one and a half’ berths.

Engine access is excellent via a combination of lifting companionway steps and removable panels in either aft cabin. Everything you need to access, from batteries to belts to filters, is within easy reach.

There is a forward facing nav station to starboard and a comfortably sized galley to port. The nav station has a plexiglass panel incorporated into the nav table to accommodate your laptop. The galley has a two burner stove and oven, a refrigerator, a stainless steel sink, pressurised cold water and plenty of storage. The galley has everything you need and nothing you don’t, and it’s well done.

Headroom in the main cabin is 6’-6”, aided in part by the lack of a headliner. Instead Archambault has brought the bolts for deck hardware through the ceiling and covered them with white end-caps. It’s not the Ritz, but it’s functional and if you’ve ever changed a deck fitting, you’ll appreciate the ease of access.

Moving forward in the main cabin there are bench settees to either side with a dining table with folding leaves in the middle. Keeping in mind this is a French boat, the dining table has built-in storage for wine, as you do.

Lifting up the floorboards I was pleasantly surprised to see a latitudinal and longitudinal matrix of beams glassed in to stiffen the hull, which is made from vacuum-bagged Vinylester. Archambault has put an impressive level of thought into this boat. For example, throughout the aforementioned matrix of beams they’ve incorporated a number of PVC pipe runs to make future wire or hose runs associated with upgrades a piece of cake.

Forward to starboard is a well-designed head with typical French design flair. The A40RC has a sewage sanitising system, hand held shower and sump. Forward to port is a double V-berth with plenty of space for the lucky couple.”
