Overview

Ciao Bella is a truly remarkable cross Atlantic Explorer yacht designed by the renowned naval mind of Jon Bannenberg and built in the United States by Poole Chaffee. She received a beautiful refit in 2008 and 2009 by her current owners and affords incredible and very unique amenities. She spent a two year period (1998-2000) where the yacht was rebuilt with a new superstructure, bow design and extension to the transom for a tender elevator and 2 garages for water toys and storage use. In all she now measures 105 feet and can cruise at a brisk 18 knots. All systems were updated new including engines, generators, wiring, plumbing, galley shafts, propellers, electronics, interior paneling, fixtures, ceilings, etc. She is repowered with Cat 3412s and has just 1230 hours! This yacht has excellent use of space featuring four staterooms including a master with king, queen staterooms, 2 single berths in mate and captains stateroom and twin in stew's room. She is capable of incredible range and built with superior seakeeping abilities.
