Vessel Information

Introduced in 2012, the Intrepid 327 Center Console is a retooled version of the company's best selling 323 Center Console with a beefed-up transom and hull bottom to handle a newer high-horsepower V-8 four-stroke outboards. The 327 is a handsome boat with her reverse transom and powder-coated T-top support. A hullside door comes in handy for swimming and diving, and the uncluttered cockpit provides lots of in-deck storage capacity. At the bow, a wraparound lounge seats six and included recliners as well as storage behind the backrests. With the push of a button, the front console seat slides open to permit access to the head. Standard features include transom door, dive platforms, lockable dry storage, pop-up cleats, cockpit bolsters, insulated fish boxes, rod storage, trim tabs, and leaning post with rod holders.
