Accommodations Upon entering the cockpit of Obsession you immediately notice the large molded fiberglass steps along the port side which take you up to her large bridge. You can also completely walk around the boat with wide side decks. Engine room access is through the cockpit lazarette. Through the large sliding door you enter the wonderful, open and airy main salon. With a port electrically controlled settee you can move the settee into a convertible berth for two. Along the starboard side is a large settee as well. Moving forward and along the port side is an elevated dinette with folding table. The dinette area offers a panoramic view of the surrounding area through large windows. The dinette table folds and when opened can accommodate 4 people comfortably. Down a stair you enter the large L shaped galley area which offers plenty of counter space and storage complete with a large pantry area. Down an additional step and to port is the guest stateroom with twin berths which can be converted to a king berth with filler cushions. Further forward and to port is the guest head complete with separate shower stall. All the way forward is the master stateroom with amidships queen berth, ample storage and hanging lockers, a separate head and shower stall. The interior has custom mattresses, draperies, pillows and décor. All hanging lockers have cedar linings.

Broker's Remarks A wide beam provides plenty of elbow room below, and high gloss maple cabinetry and vinyl overheads highlight the interior spaces. The cockpit is arranged with a built in transom door, and the bridge has a U-shaped settee aft of the helm chairs. The engine room is quite large and offers easy access to mechanicals. Built on a fully cored hull with prop pockets and underwater exhausts, the optional Caterpillar diesel engines will cruise her at a comfortable 22 knots. A beautiful, well kept diesel Sedan Bridge which accommodates a crowd. The interior neutral colors, natural light and low engine hours make Obsession must see.
