SPECIFICATIONS

Overview

The V86 continues to represent the original spirit of Versilcraft models, with modern twists and features. Naval architecture is provided by the CLM Studio in Viareggio, with construction, interior design, fit-out and interior carpentry work by Versilcraft and local Italian experts.

The V86 is exceptionally voluminous for her length, in part down to the contemporary and practical plumb bowline, allowing space for a VIP suite to the front portion of the lower deck. The V86 focuses on bringing natural light into the interior and uses premium finishes and design touches, such as removable panelling and hardwood cabinetry.

Three large windows in the owner's full-beam suite ensure the access of light is maximised, and a walk-in wardrobe and bathroom with double sinks lend a luxurious sense of space. The V86 sleeps eight guests across the owner's suite, VIP suite and two twin rooms. There is additional accommodation for four crewmembers.

The colour scheme used throughout this first vessel is masculine yet soft, with grey marble, light wood finishes and a grey palate. The yacht's entertainment systems are controlled by mini iPad system and an onboard film server feeds to televisions across the whole vessel.

The exterior, with spacious flybridge, offers guests a range of options for lounging and dining that would usually be expected from a much larger yacht, including generous seating and sunpad area, plus a swim platform to the rear. The technical systems draw on superyacht technology and practices, bringing advantages to the buyer that would not usually be available in this size range.

The engineering platform delivers fantastic manoeuvrability and an excellent horsepower-speed-efficiency balance. The V88 is expected to have a maximum speed of 26 knots, with a more efficient cruising speed of 24 knots; and zero-speed stabilizers are included as standard. Versilcraft has also considered the ease of maintenance of the V86, including privileged access to parts for easy replacement across the globe.
