Accommodations

Innovation is an overused term in the boating industry, but Regal was breaking some new ground in 2006 when they introduced the 3360 Window Express. As the name implied, a “window” was integrated into the cabin overhead, a feature that didn’t exist in other express boats her size. Experienced from below, the result was (and is) a dramatic improvement in natural lighting throughout the cabin. Built on a modified-V hull, the deck layout of this 3360 is a standard C-shaped forward lounge. A wet bar with sink, refrigerator and storage is to starboard in the cockpit, and the real seat folds into the transom when not in use. The sporty helm, with its tiered instruments and burlwood trim, has space for flush-mounting a small video display. Below, the midcabin interior of the Regal 3360 is an appealing blend of leather seating, cherry joinery, hardwood flooring, Corian countertop, hot water shower, mirrored medicine cabinet, VacuFlush head and designer fabrics. Note the handy floor locker in the galley area. Additional features include a walk-through windshield, power engine compartment hatch, flip-up helm seat, extended swim platform, and a transom storage locker.
