Overview

The Sea Ray 550 Sedan Bridge is a stretched version of the company's earlier 500 Sedan Bridge model. The 550 differs from her predecessor in that she has a larger cockpit, an improvement that allowed Sea Ray to market her as both a cruising yacht and fishing boat. She's built on a fully cored modified-V hull, and her 15-foot beam is moderate compared with many of today's mega beam yachts. Most boats this size come with just two staterooms, but Sea Ray engineers were able to create a three-stateroom interior in the 550 without compromising the size of the salon. Indeed, the salon, galley, and dining area are completely open, and the galley counter serves as a convenient breakfast bar. Both heads have separate stall showers, and space for a washer/dryer combo is provided beneath the salon floor. Topside, the flybridge of the 550 is another big attraction-it's huge with eating for a small crowd. Unlike the 500 Sedan Bridge, the cockpit of the 550 is large enough for some serious fishing activities.
