Overview

The Astondoa 80' Fly was created with relaxation, entertainment and social experiences at sea in mind. This is the perfect yacht for a summer journey with the family. The contemporary design, with lightweight and exclusive oak bulkheads, perfectly combines a colour palette ranging from white to taupe with the leather sofas in the saloon and buffed stainless steel elements. The dining room seats eight people, and the large windows create a bright atmosphere and offer spectacular views.

The saloon opens up to the foredeck through a three-pane stainless steel door to create an extended deck. The seating arrangement in the saloon can be modified for large groups or intimate gatherings, always accompanied by a complete entertainment system and the best electronic devices.

There are four en suite cabins. The large main suite is located on the lower level along with two luxuriously designed cabins in order to meet all the needs of the owner and guests.

About Astondoa:

The Astondoa shipyard was founded in Spain a century ago and has grown into a boatbuilding empire that remains family-owned and managed — a rarity in today's corporate world. While Astondoa yachts are regular features at major European boat shows in places like Cannes and London, the builder is still growing brand awareness in the Americas. Over the years, nearly 4,000 Astondoa boats, some up to about 200 feet long, have splashed happily into the water, and yet you could be forgiven if you've never heard of the company. Traditionally they haven't spent a heck of a lot of money on marketing and advertising, particularly in the Americas, instead opting to put the money back into the boatbuilding process. But that's changed, Astondoa is now here in the Americas, and your consciousness.
