DETAILED INFORMATION

Walkthrough

Entering Bunny Ann is from the port or starboard side gunnels and is into the cockpit via a molded step or via the swim platform and walk through transom door. The lower cockpit is very spacious and is set up for fishing. Three steps up is the raised helm deck with port and starboard facing seating. The helm is to starboard and the entrance to the cabin is centerline. Going below are four teak steps into a large cabin. Immediately to starboard is the galley. Next forward is a settee that converts to upper and lower bunks. Aft to port is an enclosed head with a stall shower.

Cabin

Down four steps from the helm deck via a sliding cabin door is the large open cabin of Bunny Ann. The sole is carpeted with two large storage hatches below on centerline. Just forward of the galley is a settee with storage below and a removable twin pedestal dining table. Outboard of the settee are four teak storage cabinets and padded hull liner below. Next forward in a hidden cabinet is a privacy drape for the forward berth. A cedar lined auto lit hanging locker is next forward. The free form double berth is on centerline with two drawers and a storage cabinet below. To port is a 19" TV/DVD combo. Also above the berth are two JVC stereo speakers, four halogen mini spots and an opening Bomar deck hatch. Further forward is a smoked mirror on the forward bulkhead. Next aft is a port side settee of which the backrest folds up to become an upper bunk. Each bunk has its own reading light. Also in the Salon are two opening Bomar Hatches, 7 halogen mini spots, a CO detector, a Sony AM/FM/CD stereo and digital Marine Air AC controls. Under the entry stairs is a small door to the forward part of the engine room.
