Overview

Powdermonkey was launched in 2004 with a striking exterior design by Stefano Righini. The well-appointed and luxurious interior was conceived and executed in-house, by Falcon Yachts. She has a fascinating provenance to her name as the powdermonkey on a naval Man of War was the crew member responsible for bringing the gunpowder from the ship's magazine to the gun deck. Powdermonkey has a beautifully finished interior combining cherry wood paneling and a light carpet. The main saloon has a large comfortable seating area with an adjoining formal dining area, with her large windows allowing an abundance of natural light. Her tastefully decorated master and VIP suites are both full beam. The other three cabins are similarly well equipped with full audio visual facilities and en-suite bathrooms. The spacious flybridge has a shaded dining area, where you can enjoy el fresco meals. The main deck aft also has a further dining table and twin stair cases leading down to the swim platform and transom. On the bow, there are sunbathing mattresses for the sunlovers. Timeless styling, beautiful furnishings and sumptuous seating feature throughout to create an elegant and comfortable atmosphere. Her voluminous interior, low draft and spacious sundeck make her the ideal yacht for cruising the Balearics. She is also commercially registered with an established charter following, for a new owner to take advantage of.
