- Kairos has just returned from a one and a half year cruise through the Caribbean, traveled thousands of miles, spent hundreds of nights at anchor, and visited dozens of islands. Her adventures have been documented in the sailing blog Let It Breeze, but now she's ready for her new crew. With well-maintained systems, an extra-large galley, spacious interior and stylish new cushions, she makes a perfect home. The Pearson 39-2 design is a perfect blend of cruising comfort and racing performance. She has excellent handling characteristics under both sail and power. The centerboard option is ideal for the shallow waters of Florida and the Bahamas, yet provides good pointing and stability with the board down. And the new owners will have peace of mind when sailing this performance-oriented cruiser, because her standing rigging and chainplates were replaced just 4 months ago (Feb 2017).
- This is a must see boat!
